International, experimental and multidisciplinary, where body and mind are invited to express themselves. The theme "the world of tomorrow" considered from multiple perspectives with theoretical courses (in English) and playful workshops of "theatrical practice". This multidisciplinary teaching unit aims to make students aware of a multidisciplinary approach, at several levels:

- By combining courses in Science, Health and Human and Social Sciences
- By mixing students from these three major sectors of the university
- By linking academic courses with courses in physical and theatrical practice.

Eight lectures across different disciplines:

Cinema: Isabelle Blanc (Paris)

Physics: Benoit Taucet (Louvain)

Aesthetics and musicology: Peter Edwards (Oslo)

Bioinformatics: Nadia Pisanti (Pisa)

Environment: Nathalie Blanc (Paris)

Social Sciences: Domminique Vidal (Paris)

Workshops and performance

in Paris 11-14 April

led by Anne Vanet
