

Final home exam, autumn 2016

KRIM2956 International Criminal Justice and Mass Violence

Date of exam: 18 November at 13:00 to 23 November at 13:00

Choose one of the following two topics:

1) Is international criminal justice victims' justice? Discuss arguments for and against international criminal justice as victim oriented. Engage a minimum of three relevant texts from the reading list in your argumentation.

or

2) Use the example of Dominic Ongwen to account for and discuss arguments against and in favour of prosecuting former child soldiers. Engage at least three relevant texts on your reading list.

The question can be answered in English or Norwegian.

Size: Maximum 2400 words (roughly 6pages). Front page, contents page (optional) and bibliography are not included. If footnotes are used in the text (at the bottom of each page), they are included in the 2400 word limit. Papers that exceed the 2400 word limit will be disallowed.

Cheating: Any exam at the University of Oslo is being checked for both correct word count and incidents of cheating. The text recognition software Ephorus will be used to find cases of plagiarism. Failure to cite sources or highlight quotes in any assignments that are handed in is considered cheating. You must cite the source if you obtain data, reasoning and arguments from the literature, syllabus, lecture notes, web pages, other students' papers or your own previously submitted papers. Short or long pieces of text quoted verbatim from other sources must be italicised so that it is obvious that it is a quote.

Submit your exam: The essays shall be handed in electronically in Inpera. Exams at the University of Oslo are anonymous. Instead of your name, write your four-digit candidate number found in StudentWeb.
