Shortly describe the case from the link above by using central concepts from the course syllabus to understand what is taking place and why. Then use the course syllabus to discuss how both technology and the wider context of human factors are important in understanding such crimes. End the paper by reflecting around how to prevent such crimes by using your previous discussion and additional course literature.

Note that the exam aims to test and assess your understanding of readings from the syllabus, the connections between them, and your ability to reflect upon central concepts and topics addressed in the course.
