In this exam you will choose one of the attached cases (Appendices A, B or C). You will use this case to answer Questions 1 and 2a-c.

- 1) Discuss how different research questions could be relevant to examine the topic in the text, and which qualitative methods are appropriate to answer these questions?

Give 2 different examples of possible research questions that might be relevant to address the topic. Explain why the chosen method (or combination of methods) is appropriate for the research question.

- 2) Choose one of your formulated research questions and the accompanying method(s).
  - a. Discuss challenges and possibilities that you can be met with in addressing the research question through data collection.
  - b. Discuss ethical dilemmas that may arise in the research design you have indicated.
  - c. Account for different strategies to analyse your data.

NOTE: You are encouraged to draw on literature from the course reading list, topics discussed in seminars and the lecture series. In assessing the exam, we will consider practical method skills, knowledge of the curriculum, as well as analytical maturity.

Good luck!
