

UNIVERSITY
OF OSLO

ARENA Centre for European Studies

PhD course: A differentiated Europe and its implications

Oslo/Online, 12-16. June 2023

Schedule

Monday, 12. June
13.00-13.30	Course introduction – John Erik Fossum and Jarle Trondal
Section I: Conceptualizing and theorizing differentiation
13.30-15.00	John Erik Fossum: What are the key features of differentiation?
15.00-15.30	break
15.30-17.00	John Erik Fossum: What is the relationship between differentiation, dominance and democracy?
Social event
19.00	Dinner

Tuesday, 13. June
Section II: EU and differentiation
09.00-10.30	Dirk Leuffen: EU and differentiation: What are the distinctive features of EU differentiation?
10.30-11.00	Break
11.00-12.30	Benjamin Leruth: EU and differentiation: Towards further integration or disintegration?
12.30-13.30	Lunch
Student Presentations
14.00-17:00	Student Presentations

Wednesday, 14. June
09.00-10.30	Sieglinde Gstöhl: Overview of EU relations with non-members
10.30-11.00	Break
Section III: Implications for Norway and the UK
11.00-12.30	John Erik Fossum: Brexit, EU external differentiation and normative challenges
12.30-13.30	Lunch
Student Presentations
13.30-16:30	Student Presentations
Social event
17.30	Visit to the National Museum

Thursday, 15. June
09.00-10.30	Jarle Trondal: EU and differentiation: The administrative dimension
10.30-11.00	Break
Section IV: Crises and EU differentiation
11.00-12.30	Vivien Schmidt: COVID 19 and its possible implications for EU differentiation
12.30-13.30	Lunch
Student Presentations
13.30-16:30	Student Presentations

Friday, 16. June
09.00-10.30	Jozef Bátora: Dynamics of differentiated integration in EU defense: Organizational field formation and segmentation
10.30-11.00	Break
11.00-12.30	Student presentations
Course assignments
12.30-13.30	Course assignments