

PhD course: Early childhood education as a tool to offset the detrimental long-term effects of early exposure to poverty

Organiser: the Department of Education, UiO

Responsible: Professor Joshua Lawrence and Professor Veslemøy Rydland

Key Lecturers: Professor Cybele Raver and Assistant Professor Tyler Watts

Dates: May 27 and May 28, 2019

Time: May 27: 10:00-16:00, May 28: 9:00-15:00

Room: University of Oslo, Blindern, Lucy Smiths hus, Hannah Ryggen room, 10th floor,

PROGRAM

Monday May 27

10:00 - 11:00

Professor Cybele Raver

Setting the stage for preschool intervention: Children's early learning in the context of poverty and inequality

11:00 - 12:00

Discussion/Coffee break

12:00 - 13:00

Professor Cybele Raver

Children's executive function and emotional self-regulation: Definitions and measurement in the context of early childhood

13:00 - 14:00

Lunch

14:00 - 14:30

PhD Rebecca Knoph

LURI: Listening Comprehension for Norwegian Preschoolers

14:30 - 14:45

Short break

14:45 - 16:00

Round table: Opportunity for the participants to discuss the topic of today's presentations related to own research agendas

Summary of the day by Veslemøy Rydland

Tuesday May 28

9:00 - 10:00

Assistant Professor Tyler Watts

A Story Without an Ending: ECE Programs and the Ongoing Search for Long-Run Effects

10:00 - 11:00

Discussion/Coffee break

11:00 - 12:00

Assistant professor Tyler Watts

Cluster RCT's for Educational Programs: How Do I Choose the Right Model?

12:00 - 13:00

Lunch

13:00 - 13:30

PhD Karin van Trijp

Measuring young children's well-being in multiple contexts. The development of an instrument

13:30 - 13:45 Short break

13:45 - 15:00

Round table: methodological applications to early childhood intervention data with Åste Hagen

Conclusion by Joshua Lawrence