

Development perspectives in times of war

A perspective on Ukraine, Moldova and the wider region

Thursday 19 January
15:00-16:30 CET
House of Oslo, Ruseløkkveien 34

Speakers

Ms. Ivana Živković:
United Nations Assistant
Secretary-General and
Director for UNDPs
Regional Bureau for Europe and Commonwealth of Independent States

Ms. Dima Al-Khatib:
UNDP Resident
Representative in the Republic of Moldova

Mr. Christophoros Politis:
UNDP Deputy
Resident Representative in Ukraine

As the war in Ukraine continues in the most horrific way, this seminar seeks to highlight the long-term perspective on development in Ukraine, Moldova and the region.

- ➔ How does the development perspective look like in Ukraine and Moldova at this moment and what developments are we expecting in 2023?
- ➔ Is it possible to have a long-term, development perspective in mind when the humanitarian needs are so urgent and prominent?

Program

1500-1510	Coffee and registration
1510-1515	Welcome remarks by Arvinn Gadgil, Director UNDP Oslo Governance Centre
1515-1525	Introduction to by Ms. Ivana Živković <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Overview on the situation in Ukraine and Eastern Europe. - Overall picture of the development and humanitarian situation in the region.
1525-1545	Keynote by Ms. Dima Al-Khatib and Mr. Christophoros Politis <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Briefing on the situation in Ukraine and Moldova - Latest updates from the humanitarian political situation on the ground. - Perspectives for 2023
1545-1630	Q&A